

Monday, Sept 27th I started on my second year of the Museum school. It was such fun going back every one was so happy and glad to see each other. It made me feel as if there were a place for me at school & that I would be missed if I weren't there. Everyone was so excited & eager to work. The Antique class of last year (the girls) have a life room to themselves & we were all a bit thrilled at the thought of drawing from a live figure. It was a man too & rather a shock at first to see him casually appear from behind a curtain with nothing on of course & he wanted a pole to lean on & so wandered about the room

Monday, Sept 27th

I started on my second year of the Museum school. It was such fun going back everyone was so happy and glad to see each other. It made me feel as if there were a place for me at school & that I would be missed if I weren't there. Everyone was so excited & eager to work. The Antique class of last year (the girls) have a life room to themselves & we were all a bit thrilled at the thought of drawing from a live figure. It was a man too & rather a shock at first to see him casually appear from behind a curtain with nothing on of course & he wanted a pole to lean on & so wandered about the room & poked in corners until he found it.